QUESTION
If you work for the purchasing department of a government agency, and during the bidding process you receive a bid on a project from a former employer, what should you do?

(A) Remain silent and do nothing.
(B) Report the conflict of interest to your immediate supervisor.
(C) Remove yourself from the project.
(D) Accept the bid.

HINTS
It is not your decision to reject or accept the bid.

ANSWER
(B)

CONTRIBUTOR
Glen Besterfield

This question of the day was provided by the courtesy of Professor Glen Besterfield of the University of South Florida from the book Fundamentals of Engineering Examination Sample Questions General Engineering.